Proposed Center for Philosophical Reflection on Educational Policy and Practice Sub-contract to University of Illinois at Chicago

Description of scope of work to be done at UIC:

UIC will take charge of three aspects of the Center's operations through the sub-contract from the grant: 1) It will cover the costs of employing Tony Laden and the Center's Associate Director. Prof. Laden will share with Prof. Brighthouse the task of setting the intellectual agenda of the center, organizing and overseeing its main activities, making final decisions on its awards and choice of senior and junior fellows. 2) It will cover the logistical and financial aspects of paying out the small grants the Center plans to award (up to 4 per year in years 2-5 of the grant). Though the RFPs and advertisements, and the administration of the application and decision process will be done out of the Center's offices at WCER, the actual paying of the grants and the logistics surrounding those awards will be run by UIC. 3) One of the Center's two annual conferences will be run out of UIC, including the costs of travel and accommodations for all participants, local meeting space, meals and materials.
